Ladies Card Club

Full Cry

The Ladies Card Club met Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Turple. Honors went to Mrs. Todd and Mrs. Peterson.

Charlie Mah of Prince Albert arrived in Chinook on Saturday, for a short stay.

A man telephoned to a newspaper office, asking them to advertise for his lost dog and offering $500 reward. A few hours later he called at the office and asked to see the manager.

"He's out, sir!" said the office-boy. "Well, his assistant will do." "But he's out, sir!" cried the office boy. "In fact the whole staff have gone out to look for your dog!"

Surgery of the Seas

Dr. Adam N. Beattie, surgeon of the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Japan, and his ship's nurse, Miss Margaret Grant Allan, who are shown here, performed two delicate operations during the ship's round trip to the Far East, via Honolulu, just completed in Vancouver. On the outward trip, between Honolulu and Yokohama, the liner's huge turbines were stalled for nearly an hour while Dr. Beattie removed a ruptured duodenal ulcer from a Chinese passenger. On the homeward trip, between Hong Kong and Shanghai, the London, Ont. doctor's skill was again called into play when a Chinese saloon steward was stricken with acute appendicitis. Both patients are recovering well, the physician reported. Dr. Beattie, former house physician at Vancouver's St. Paul's hospital, and graduate of University of Western Ontario's medical school at London, Ont., stated that the Empress of Japan's splendidly equipped operating room made the operations little different in practice from any performed in large hospitals. His assistant, Miss Allan, is a graduate of St. Paul's hospital, Saskatoon. She has been in the Empress of Japan for the past three and a half years and previously was in the Empress of Russia. Dr. Beattie first went to sea in 1923 aboard the Canadian-Australasia liner "Niagara" out of Vancouver.

Restoration Of Fertility

The task of restoring moisture reserves and resultant fertility of the soil of the prairies is a big one. It is quite evidently one which will have to be undertaken on large scale plan before wide-spread results can be ensured and will have to be carried out on a co-operative basis with the backing of well matured and carefully thought out plans.

In this column some months ago it was pointed out that deserts can be, and sometimes are, made-made. No one who has been observant and has given some consideration to what has been taking place since this country was settled who will not contribute to the belief that to some degree the devastation which has been wrought by dust storms and drought on the open prairies in the past few years is attributable to wasteful and heedless methods of cultivation of the soil.

To what extent lack of moisture which brought about conditions from which agriculture has suffered so seriously in the past five or six years can be charged up against cultivation methods and other doubtful practices is problematical and cannot be scientifically measured, but that the severity of the drought was accentuated by such practices is undoubted and certainly some of the damage wrought by dust storms could have been averted had other methods been pursued.

It may be taken for granted, however, that the damage done is not irreparable and that adoption of appropriate methods of cultivation and conservation, intelligently applied, can go a long way towards avoidance of repetition of serious loss and may even, in some instances, improve the productivity of the soil. If human agencies can create desert conditions it is not unreasonable to suppose that the same agencies can undo the harm which has been caused, though this process of rehabilitation may be a lengthy and expensive one.

Some valuable evidence of the feasibility of man-made plans to restore moisture and productivity to the soil was given recently by W. L. McTavish, managing editor of the Winnipeg Tribune in an address to the Regina Board of Trade when he outlined the satisfactory outcome of a rehabilitation project in Manitoba in the following words:

"A year ago we dammed the outlet where the waters of Lake Manitoba descend to Lake Winnipeg. The level of Lake Manitoba was brought back in a year to its former level and then a year later wells in the Portage Plains which had become deep wells as the waters of Lake Manitoba receded, were brought back to former levels. There were districts in the Portage Plains which had no rainfall last year after the first week in June which nevertheless produced good crops. The answer was to be found in a higher water table in the subsoil, consequent upon the higher water levels of Lake Manitoba. There was moisture underlying the Portage Plains last summer and the wheat roots went down and found it."

The result of this Manitoba experiment should furnish a lot of consolation to the people of the prairie provinces. It demonstrates that with forethought and the application of understandable scientific principles to the problem man can do something more than just sit down supinely and hope for rain; that Nature will help him who helps himself; that there is real hope for the future by the application of intelligent action.

It is true that not all sections of the prairie provinces could be benefited by a project similar to the Lake Manitoba dam scheme, but other projects and other methods are adapted to other districts, as appropriately pointed out by Mr. McTavish when he said:

"We have got to take advantage of every aid we can—strip farming, binding grasses, legume crops and everything of that sort that we can use to aid in this work, and we have got to work everlastingly to impound in the west every drop of moisture that falls from the heavens. We must impound it by means of dams, we must impound it by means of trees and grass lands. We must bring up the water table in the subsoil. We must work to conserve moisture by breaking up the drying winds."

"It is a job for the next ten or twenty years, but we should be at it with all the energy and all the brain power we can command. We have done a good deal towards destroying this western country. Now we have the job of reclaiming it."

A good deal has been said recently about governments being urged to adopt crop insurance schemes which may or may not be economically feasible. Whether such insurance plans are put into effect or not, undoubtedly projects and practices which will effectively conserve moisture for the benefit of the crops will do more for agriculture and will probably be more remunerative and less expensive in the long run, and hence, cheaper and better insurance against one of the major and periodic hazards.

While exploring ruins of Tepe Gakire, Mesopotamia, archeologists found most bones in a pot, apparently just as they were put on the fire to stew centuries ago.

Must Keep Moving
 We have just heard a unique explanation of why an internationally known orchestra leader is not proving the drawing card he was expected to be. One of the officials put it this way: "He worked hard and got to the top, but he made the mistake of thinking he could stand still on the top without trying to go higher and do better."

The Cheerful Worker

Is One Who Starts Day Right With Good Breakfast

The world would be a nicer place in which to live if we had and observed a creed for breakfast. This applies more particularly to city folks. The cheerful citizen in business is such because he is fortified by a good breakfast. The rest of us have too limited a time table and rush the first meal to get to work and to land downtown cantankerous cranks and become unpleasant in all the morning transactions. Breakfast should be a rite, observed leisurely in preparation for whatever the day may bring. Fortified with a satisfying breakfast man can meet even fate with courage and equanimity. Of course, some medics advise sparse breakfasts, but you can tell the abstemious breakers of the fast in their mornings by their demeanor and manners in their customary intercourse. In the morning they are as unpopular as the rush-counter breakfasters.

And the breakfast time limit habit has been encouraged by prepared food manufacturers. It isn't vitamins we ought to count in our breakfast foods but time and not fast time. The housewives who are not, of course, to be blamed, are for quickly prepared dishes for breakfast. At the same time they suffer the doldrums of a wage-earner with the cranky breakfast-time feeling, or hangover perhaps. With all the rush of that morning meal there is a fraying of everybody's nerves and the ragged edges rub. What is needed is a breakfast smile to start a happier day. This would be much more humane and crime might be curbed if we prepared a new dogma for breakfasts, and took time to observe the rites—Brandon Sun.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to go

The liver should pour out two pounds of bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. Harmful poisons go into the body, and you feel sour, sick and the whole works pester.

A more honest movement doesn't always get at the cause. You need something that works on the liver as well. It takes three drops of Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "rarin' to go." Harmless and gentle, they make the bile flow freely. They do the work of a catalyst have no calomel or mercury in them. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name! Satisfactorily refuse anything else. 25c.

BAKED APPLE PUDDING

Temperature: 350 degrees F.

Time: 1 hour.

6 tart apples

½ cup water

1 teaspoon cinnamon

¾ cup brown sugar

1 cup Benson's corn starch

6 tablespoons butter

Pare, core and thinly slice the apples into a greased baking dish or skillet. Sprinkle the water, sugar and cinnamon. Blend together the sugar,

Benson's corn starch and butter until quite crumbly and sift over the apple mixture. Bake in a moderate oven. Serve with cream. Note: Be very sure to measure these ingredients carefully. If too much corn starch is used, the mixture will become doughy instead of crisp. The finished pudding should have a crisp top.

Compliment Returned

A chorus girl, deliciously pretty but decidedly low-brow, somehow found herself at a very select party given by a famous society woman.

The girl, lonely and uncomfortable as a fish out of water, was leaning against the wall, framed against the dark oak, when the hostess took pity on her.

"My dear," she said kindly, "you look like an old Rembrandt."

The girl "well" related the damsel, sharply, "you don't look too darned sharp yourself."

A New Star

Find Celestial Neighbor Of The World, But Some Distance Away

Astronomers have catalogued a new celestial "neighbor" of the world if you can call 42 trillion miles a neighborhood. Dr. Willem J. Luyten, head of the University of Minnesota's department of astronomy, announced discovery of the star in the constellation Aquarius and six or seven light years away. Dr. Luyten said the new star was close enough so it is across the heavens was equalled by only 12 or 14 stars. The new star is 25,000 to 30,000 times fainter than the sun. It is 14.3 magnitude, and the human eye can see only down to the sixth magnitude.

A cow kicked over a lamp, they say, started the Chicago fire. A spider climbing a thread brought Bruce of Scotland victory, but these and many other like historical incidents pale before the story of the housewife whose carelessness founded one of the most important phases of the Canadian fish industry.

Away back in a Scottish Village a housewife left a haddock hanging from the rafters of her cottage as she went out for the day. She had left it too near a peat fire, however, and when she returned the fish was all dried by the smoke from the fire. She decided to cook it anyway and the result was so appetizing that the news spread like wildfire and smoked fish became a national delicacy.

Today the popularity of smoked fish has spread everywhere and the appetite for this delicacy has founded Canadian organizations of international repute, some of which have been established for a century and more.

The Canadian climate has been found ideal for the production of this delicacy and other cured fish and today the Dominion holds a foremost place in world trade in the export of dried, smoked and pickled fish.

WOMEN RECEIVE 80 Per Cent of LIFE INSURANCE BENEFITS

The women of Canada are the beneficiaries of over 80 per cent of all life insurance estates, of over $10,000,000 paid out in death claims last year by life insurance companies operating in Canada, $32,000,000 went to the women of Canada to tide themselves and their families over periods of financial distress. It provided ready cash to meet pressing obligations during the difficult readjustment period. It supplied funds for food, clothing, shelter and other necessities of life. It provided money to pay the rent or to meet mortgage payments, and it gave to thousands of families a certain measure of financial security against the future. Legislation that imperils the security of life insurance investments—that arbitrarily reduces interest rates on securities and that repudiates public or private debts—is of vital interest to the women of Canada.
